Artscape's intention was to use the award of £2000 to gather the opinions of people with long term mental health problems and other long term health conditions. This was done by providing group sessions in sheltered accommodation and other settings where service users could participate in artistic activities. Participants were recorded discussing the various health services that they receive – both primary care services and specific mental health services.

This video has been publicised on line, as well as at an event which was attended by members of staff from local mental health services.
